Dear Families

This week, we began with the Parable of the Talents from Matthew's Gospel. It is a wonderful reminder that we have all been given gifts, opportunities and abilities, but that what really matters is what we choose to do with them. In the parable, three servants are entrusted with different amounts of money. Two use what they have been given and make it grow, whilst the third, frightened of getting things wrong, buries his gift in the ground. In assembly, we reflected on what this means for us. We all have different talents, but the challenge is not simply to recognise them. It is to have the courage to use them. We should not be so afraid of getting things wrong that we fail to live life to the fullest. We are called to participate, to take opportunities, to challenge ourselves and to make a difference.

This is of course our school mission: to champion students so they can flourish individually and collectively. We want every student to discover what they are capable of, but we also want them to recognise that their gifts can be used to help others flourish. This is particularly important as we continue our Catholic Social Teaching focus on Solidarity. We are one body, and our individual gifts become even more powerful when we use them for the good of others.

This week has also included the Feast of St Edmund of Abingdon, one of our House Saints. St Edmund has a particularly important connection to Oxford and to education, and his feast gives us another opportunity to reflect on the example of those who have used their knowledge, faith and gifts in the service of others.

I also had the enormous privilege of representing Greyfriars at a special event at the University of Oxford celebrating St John Henry Newman being declared a Doctor of the Church. This is a remarkable honour and one of real significance for Catholic education. The event was chaired by Oxford's Vice-Chancellor, Professor Irene Tracey, with contributions from Lord Patten, the Bishop of Chelmsford, Monsignor Roderick Strange and Cardinal Timothy Radcliffe. It was an engaging and thought-provoking occasion, bringing together voices from across education and the Church to reflect on Newman's extraordinary contribution.

One thing I particularly took away from the event was Newman's belief in the importance of friendship rooted in thoughtful debate and disagreement. In a society that can feel increasingly polarised, where we are often encouraged to take sides rather than listen, this feels particularly relevant. We should be able to disagree without becoming divided. At Greyfriars, we want our students to think critically, challenge ideas, listen generously and recognise that disagreement can deepen our understanding of one another. This is an important part of education: learning not simply what to think, but how to think, and how to live well alongside others.

Newman has a particularly important connection to Oxford and to our local community. His understanding of education was profound. He recognised that education is not simply about acquiring information or passing examinations, but about forming the whole person: developing our ability to think, to reason, to seek truth and to live meaningful lives.

Weekly Newsletter

We have also seen some wonderful examples of students embracing opportunities this week.

One group enjoyed a visit to a Laing O'Rourke construction site, gaining fascinating insights into the world of construction, engineering and development. It is easy to underestimate the extraordinary range of skills and careers involved in creating the buildings and infrastructure around us. Experiences like this help students connect what they learn in school with the possibilities of the world beyond it.

Meanwhile, some of our Year 11 students visited Peterhouse, Cambridge, as part of our commitment to helping students think ambitiously about their futures. We want our young people to recognise that places like Cambridge are genuine possibilities for them. Sometimes the most important part of a visit like this is simply being there, seeing the environment, meeting people and beginning to imagine yourself belonging. That is how ambition grows.

We are also enormously proud of our partnership with Oxford Elite Basketball, and it was wonderful to celebrate their impressive victory last week. Partnerships like this bring such energy to our school community and offer students opportunities to develop their skills, confidence and love of sport. We are delighted to work alongside organisations that share our commitment to helping young people flourish.

Finally, we were pleased to welcome Steve Bell, Director of Education for the Diocese, to Greyfriars this week. It is always a pleasure to show visitors the everyday life of our school, and I was particularly proud of his reflections on the warm welcome he received and the focus of our students. I often talk about our students being Greyfriars polite, but this is about something much deeper than good manners. It is about a culture of care, respect and belonging, alongside a genuine commitment to learning. These are the small things that, when practised consistently, make an extraordinary difference.

As I reflect on the week, I am reminded once again how fortunate we are to be part of this school community. We have students exploring universities, discovering careers, developing their sporting talents, engaging with their faith and showing tremendous kindness and ambition in their everyday lives.

I hope our students continue to embrace every opportunity to discover their talents and live life to the fullest. There is so much joy to be found in doing so.

Thank you, as always, for your continued support of Greyfriars as part of our school family.

With every best wish for your weekends.

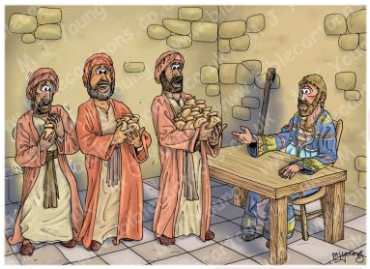
WHAT IS GOD'S MESSAGE FOR ME THIS WEEK?

Gospel | Matthew 25:14-30



Jesus told his disciples this parable: "A man going on a journey called in his servants and entrusted his possessions to them. To one he gave five talents; to another, two; to a third, one– to each according to his ability. Then he went away. Immediately the one who received five talents went and traded with them, and made another five. Likewise, the one who received two made another two. But the man who received one went off and dug a hole in the ground and buried his master's money. "After a long time the master of those servants came back and settled accounts with them. The one who had received five talents came forward bringing the additional five. He said, 'Master, you gave me five talents. See, I have made five more.' His master said to him, 'Well done, my good and faithful servant. Since you were faithful in small matters, I will give you great responsibilities. Come, share your master's joy.' Then the one who had received two talents also came forward and said, 'Master, you gave me two talents. See, I have made two more.' His master said to him, 'Well done, my good and faithful servant. Since you were faithful in small matters, I will give you great responsibilities. Come, share your master's joy.' Then the one who had received the one talent came forward and said, 'Master, I knew you were a demanding person, harvesting where you did not plant and gathering where you did not scatter; so out of fear I went off and buried your talent in the ground. Here it is back.' His master said to him in reply, 'You wicked, lazy servant! So you knew that I harvest where I did not plant and gather where I did not scatter? Should you not then have put my money in the bank so that I could have got it back with interest on my return? Now then! Take the talent from him and give it to the one with ten. For to everyone who has, more will be given and he will grow rich; but from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away. And throw this useless servant into the darkness outside, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth.'"

Reflection

Looking at this parable, we can learn two different ways of approaching God. The first way is that of the one who buries the talent he has received, who cannot see the riches God gave him: he trusts neither his master nor himself(…). Let us next look at the second way, with the other two protagonists, who repay their master's trust by in turn trusting in him. These two invest everything they received, even though they do not know at the outset if everything will go well: they study, they see the possibilities, and prudently seek out the best. They accept the risk of putting themselves on the line. They trust, they study and they risk. They thus have the courage to act freely, creatively, generating new wealth (cf. vv. 20-23). Brothers and sisters, this is the crossroads we face with God: fear or trust. Either you are afraid before God, or you trust in the Lord. And we, like the protagonists of the parable — all of us — have received talents — all of us — far more precious than money. But much of how we invest them depends on our trust in the Lord, which frees our hearts and makes us active and creative in goodness. Do not forget this: trust frees, always; fear paralyses. Let us remember: fear paralyses.(…) And may the Virgin Mary help us to overcome fear — never be afraid of God! Awe, yes; fear, no — and to trust the Lord. (Pope Francis, Angelus 19 November 2023)

Prayer for World Day of the Poor

Inspired by Mary, full of grace, we pray for the courage to seek God's grace working in our lives;
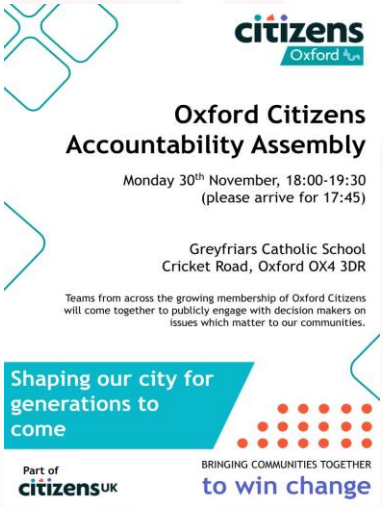
the strength to be attentive to the radical truth of the Gospel;
the persistence to put our faith, hope and love into action daily in the world.
Holy Mary, Mother of God and full of grace, pray for us.

Catholic Life | Mr Greer

Last Sunday, the Church had its 10th annual World Day of the Poor. Christians around the world took time to pray for the poor in our midst, and to remember, as Pope Leo put it, that they evangelise to us. May the poor teach us about Christ as we build relationships with them.

As our part of the World Day of the Poor, we are launching our annual "Reverse Advent Calendar." During the month of December, students can bring in non-perishable food to donate to Caritas, a Catholic charity providing relief to the poor. We will also be giving some of these donations to families in need within our own school. Additionally, new this year, we will be collecting a specific donation of period products. This is in partnership with our student club, The Pad Project, which seeks to create equality and justice for young women around the world who face barriers due to a lack of period products. In whatever capacity you are able, please consider sending a donation to the school with your child.



Lastly, we are fast approaching our Citizens Assembly where we will host key decision makers for buses at our school. We can guarantee that Oxford Bus Company, Stagecoach, and Cllr Epps will be in attendance, so please come if you can. We want to show them that the community of Greyfriars is one who seeks better and fairer transport for all in the city.

Please sign up here if you plan to come:

Oxford Elite Greyfriars U13 Girls | Mr Roman

Our Oxford Elite Greyfriars U13 Girls basketball team made an incredible start to their league campaign on Sunday, 15 November, with an impressive 89–12 away victory against Northampton Ospreys. The girls delivered an outstanding team performance, showing great teamwork, determination and confidence throughout the game.

A special mention goes to Mariama, who had an outstanding performance, scoring an incredible 33 points and making a huge contribution to the team's success.

This was a fantastic achievement for the girls in their first league game, reflecting their hard work, commitment and progress during training. Well done, girls! What a fantastic start to the season!

Join Our Basketball Programmes!
Our Oxford Elite Greyfriars basketball programmes are open to girls and boys in Years 7 and 8, offering opportunities to develop basketball skills, build confidence, make new friends and enjoy being part of a team. The training session for girls is every Tuesday from 3:30pm – 5:30pm and for boys every Friday at the same time. We welcome students of all abilities who would like to get involved and enjoy basketball!

Cambridge University Visit | Dr Angelici

On Thursday, twelve of our Year 11 students had the exciting opportunity to visit the University of Cambridge as part of the Peterhouse Raising Ambitions Outreach Programme. During the visit, students had the opportunity to meet and chat with current Cambridge students, gaining first-hand insights into their experiences of university life, academic study and living in Cambridge. They also enjoyed a guided tour of Peterhouse, learning more about the history and traditions of one of Cambridge's historic colleges, as well as taking part in an orientation session.

The programme provided practical advice and information about what it is like to study at university, the opportunities and challenges of student life, and some of the important things to consider when applying to highly competitive universities.

It was a thoroughly enjoyable and enriching experience, and a huge well done to all twelve students for their enthusiasm, curiosity and excellent engagement throughout the day!

Message for Year 8 and Year 9 | Mrs Reddy

It has been lovely to see our Year 8 and 9 students continuing to make us proud through their positive behaviour, kindness and respect. This week, we marked Anti-Bullying Week, with the theme 'Break the Silence', reminding us that every voice matters and we all have a part to play in creating a safe, happy and inclusive community.

As the weather turns colder and wetter, please ensure your child has a suitable outdoor jacket to wear over their blazer. Our uniform expectations remain unchanged; hoodies and joggers are not permitted.

We look forward to welcoming students and families to our Christmas Fair on 5 December for some festive fun and a taste of Christmas at Greyfriars!

Next week, flu vaccinations will take place for students with parental consent. For further information, please contact main reception.

Finally, please see the Christmas Charity Appeal poster below. Thank you to everyone who has already donated. We are still collecting to support individuals and families who may need extra help this Christmas. Every contribution makes a difference! Let's continue to spread kindness and generosity this festive season.

Message for Y7 | Mr Cunningham

Another successful week is complete, and we would like to thank our Year 7 students for their continued effort and positive attitudes. Well done to all. As we move into the final stretch before Christmas, we are keeping our focus on high standards of behaviour. Our students have set the bar well this term, and there is no need for that to slip now. We know they can finish the term as strongly as they have started it.

We would also like to share a gentle reminder about social media. Age restrictions exist for good reasons, and we would encourage parents to stay aware of how their children are using these platforms. Checking phones and messages regularly is one of the most effective ways to help keep young people safe online, and we are grateful for your support with this.

With the colder weather, a note on uniform: windproof and waterproof coats may be worn to and from school and between lessons. Hoodies and soft material jackets are not acceptable as part of the uniform, so please do check before the school run.

I wanted to make students and families aware of a public lecture run by the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Oxford. This takes place on Tuesday 24th November at St John's College from 5:30-6:30pm. The speakers will share their findings from research carried from the OxWell surveys, research that our school, alongside many others, took part in last year. This will be particularly interesting for our Psychology students and anyone considering working with young people or in a healthcare setting.

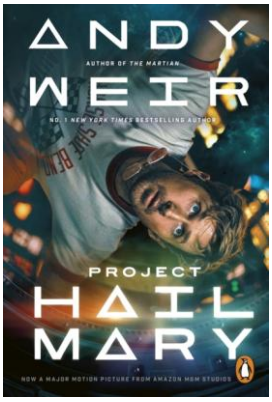
Weekly Book Review by Lian



I adored reading this novel. Most would have probably seen the film (and it was great no doubt) but the book gives the reader so many more tiny details on either Grace's inner thoughts or simple interactions with Rocky. It's also just a fun read as even if you're not a big fan of sci-fi I think you'd still be totally intrigued with this story.

I'll mention it again but the attention to detail within this book is absolutely incredible and shockingly consistent with little room for plot holes and otherwise that you might normally find within this sort of genre. I also wanted to say that the back and forth dialogue is actually hilarious, both witty and sharp. It's genuinely a real treat to witness!

Overall, if you haven't read this or if you've only seen the film, please give this book a chance because it's seriously worth reading!

Attendance at Greyfriars

At Greyfriars Catholic School, our priority is to ensure that every student has the opportunity to flourish individually and collectively. Consistent attendance plays a vital role in this success and we have high expectations for all pupils, with the aim of achieving 100% attendance.

Every day in school counts.

For more information on our attendance policy and details of how to notify the school of your child's absence or indeed, to request a term time absence, please follow the link below which will take you to our attendance page on the school website:

Attendance

Student Illness Procedure

- If your child feels unwell a member of the on-call team will be called to the classroom to assess your child in the first instance.
- If on-call believe that the student is not well enough to continue with their lesson, they will be escorted to main reception to be seen by the person on duty in the medical room.
- At this stage, parents / carers will be contacted.
- If it is decided that your child is too unwell to continue the school day, you or a named adult will be asked to collect your child from school.
- Alternatively, if you are unable to collect your child, they will likely be sent back to lessons.

School Lunch Accounts

Please remember to regularly check your child has enough funds in their ParentPay lunch accounts and if this is running low please top up. Students will be unable to purchase food in the restaurant if they do not have enough funds in their account.

Please note that we are a cashless school and cannot accept cash for lunch payments.
